STORM KNOCKS DOWN POWER LINE

Eisenhower Heads For U.S. Today

Blaze Delays Traffic

Neighboring Counties Hit By Tornadoes

READING, Pa. (UPI) — Several tornadoes cut through Berks and Montgomery county communities Friday night. They ripped roofs off homes, two hotels and other buildings, felled electrical and telephone wires, bowled over trees like matchsticks and closed at least two main highways and smaller roads for several hours.

Venezuela Under State Of Emergency

CARACAS (UPI) — Venezuela was under a virtual state of emergency today following an assassination attempt that was expected to lay up President Romulo Betancourt for at least three weeks.

Good Evening!

Calm after the storms.

We got 'em last night, all over the place, with even a tornado up in Montgomery County.

A cooler-offer, in a way of speaking. Now for a placid weekend all the way with humidity down to zero.

Those young Phillies and Roberts lick the Cards to win their sixth in a row and now they're aiming right at sixth place and we figure they can do it.

If they take this St. Louis series they'll start becoming the toast of the league. Maybe too early to say, but we've got a little secret feeling that Gene Mauch could become the manager of the year.

H. M. (Hank) Caldwell, Lower Bucks Y.M.C.A. general secretary, recovering nicely in Pittsburgh's Presbyterian hospital after an operation and this his great host of friends will be delighted to know.

Okay, how about a bit of a greeting across the state? He'll be in the hospital for the next week to ten days.

And Herb Barnes, the president, hosted a perfectly enjoyable outing yesterday afternoon and evening for members of the Bucks County Industrial Development Corporation and their wives at his Warrington C. C.

We don't know that Gordon Exley wrapped up any new industries, but there were a lot of enlightening seminars on golf, swimming, bridge and Russia.

County Commissioner John Bodley and Quakertown Banker Dan Erdman provided the fairways exhibitions, and you know something? They're both pros.

President Ike changing his mind about making Dave Norman and the missus an ambassadorial team to Russia. After spending a month in the dump, both are showing bias.

Six tons of dishes are washed every year by the average homemaker. Sounds like a dirty trick on Mom.

Staying young is not only a good habit with most gals, but an old one.

Drive carefully, please, during the weekend.

Go to church tomorrow.

To Give Talk On Monday

HONOLULU (UPI) — President Eisenhower, well rested after nearly a week beside the sea in Hawaii, flies back to the mainland today and the onerous task of coping with criticism of his Far Eastern trip.

The Chief Executive was scheduled to take off from Hickam Air Force Base outside Honolulu at 11 p.m., e.d.t. after a post-midnight refueling stop at Travis Air Force Base outside San Francisco. He was to land at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington between 8 and 9 a.m. e.d.t.

The Chief Executive has been in Hawaii since last Monday, resting up from an arduous tour of the Philippines, Formosa, Okinawa and Korea. His visit to Japan was cancelled at the request of the Japanese government because its police seemed unable to guarantee Eisenhower's safety against recurrent anti-American violence.

Eisenhower's first major official chore upon returning to Washington will be a report to the American people on his Far Eastern trip over nationwide radio and television Monday at 7:30 p.m. e.d.t.

AF Launches Titan Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force successfully launched a Titan intercontinental missile last night on a 5,000 mile, information-gathering flight over the south Atlantic.

The 98-foot missile impacted near Ascension Island. Boats were attempting to recover a data case it carried.

The launching was carried out from Cape Canaveral at 7:04 p.m. e.s.t. It was the sixth successful Titan firing in as many tries.

The ocean-spanning Titan, scheduled for a major space job later this year, is now in an advanced stage of development.

Its job Friday was to deliver a Mark IV nose cone to a spot in the south Atlantic 5,000 miles away — just about half its range capability.

Ex-Oakford Man Is Awarded $10,000 In Love Theft Case

A Bucks County Civil Court jury yesterday awarded $10,000 to a former Oakford milkman against a neighbor he said stole the love and affection of his wife.

The jury, at the end of a four-day trial, directed Francis J. Bendzlowicz, 42, of 4577 River Road, Oakford, to pay "compensatory damages" of $10,000 to Henry C. Schafer, Jr., 30, formerly of 4583 River Road. Schafer now lives on Bennington St., Philadelphia.

Won Divorce

Schafer, who has won a divorce from his wife, Patsy, 29, on grounds of adultery, was represented by Doylestown Attorney William L. Goldman, who described Bendzlowicz to the jury as "a seducer who hunted out this woman to satisfy his own lust and broke up a happy home."

Schafer sought $500,000 damages. Bendzlowicz, acting as his own attorney, denied charges by Schafer that he had intimate relations with the wife.

The Schaferes were married Jan. 7, 1956 and divorced Sept. 4, 1959. Each had been married before, it was testified.

Schafer said he and his wife and children moved to Oakford in September, 1956.

Told To Stay Away
A milkman for a Philadelphia dairy, Schafer said he would go to work early in the morning and arrive home in the morning or early afternoon. At least a dozen times, he said, he walked in his front door as Bendzlowicz left by the rear door of the Schafer home. He said he repeatedly told him to stay away.

One day in June, 1958, he said, the back door was stuck and Bendzlowicz was cornered in the kitchen, Schafer said. His wife opened the front door for the neighbor to escape.

Early on March 12, 1958, the day of a deep snowstorm, Schafer said he waited in vain for a co-worker to pick him up at U.S. Route 1 and then returned to the house to find prints leading from Bendzlowicz' garage to Schafer's house, and from the house back to the defendant's home.

Schafer said his wife told him "she didn't love me any more" and left him twice to go away for Development Corp. Gets More Allotments Sliced In County Budget

The Bucks County Commissioners have pared down financial allotments to the County Park Board, Planning Commission, Mosquito Control Commission and donations to hospitals and health organizations in the 1960 budget of $3,547,819 which was put on public view yesterday.

The new budget, which reduces the tax millage from seven to five mills, reflects the increasing judicial and administrative expenses coming to the county this year and also shows increased support to the Bucks County Industrial Development Corporation.

The institution district tax on real estate was reduced from one to 7 mills, making a total this year of 5.7 mills.

The budget will be on view in the office of County Controller Howard G. Krupp, in the new County Administration Building, Doylestown, until July 13. On July 19, the commissioners will vote on its adoption.

Required
The millage reduction, and a limit to the total budget were required under the reassessment program. The county is permitted this year an increase of only five per cent tax income from real estate it taxed last year.

The increase in Bucks County judges from two and three to four, with new court officers, the occupancy of the new Administration Building and the state-required increase in jurors' pay from $6 to $9 a day with more liberal transportation allowance are all reflected in the budget. Total real estate assessments have increased 60 per cent this year to $406,474,260. Occupational assessments, slightly reduced, total $32,973,480.

Real Estate Tax
The county commissioners have set a real estate tax rate of five mills for general purposes and 7 mills for the institution district. The general tax was seven mills and the institution tax one mill last year.

Living Cost Keeps Up With Joneses

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The cost of living is keeping up with the Joneses.

Several new items were added to the Labor Department's latest consumer price index to reflect changes in the "typical" market basket of the average middle-income city wage earner.

News Items

These new items included canned tomato and pineapple juice, frozen french fried potatoes, frozen lemon concentrate, macaroni, pork roast, potato chips sirloin steak and liquid detergents.

In order that the list of products and services on which the cost-of-living figures are based be kept typical of the average family's shopping list, the department recently dropped salt pork.

Millions of dollars ride on the reliability of the government's living cost calculation. The pay of hundreds of thousands of workers is tied to the index.

Alimony Payments
In some cases, alimony payments are based on the cost-of-living figures.

The new products were added to the cost-of-living statistics with the May price figures, issued Friday.

The cost of living pushed to a record high in May for the fourth month in a row and a Labor Department spokesman held out no hope of relief until next fall.

The price index showed consumers had to pay $12.63 in May for the same products and services that cost $10 in the 1947-49 period. Higher grocery prices led the May increase. Living costs were 1.9 per cent higher last month than a year ago.

Council Candidate Asks To Be Defeated

DETROIT, Mich. (UPI) — Dr. Mel Ravitz, a leading candidate for the Detroit Common Council, has asked voters to defeat him. Ravitz, who has been endorsed by the AFL-CIO, said yesterday he wished he could withdraw—but the withdrawal deadline has passed. Ravitz said personal reasons led to his unusual request.

An electrical storm struck Lower Bucks County last night but passed through the area leaving property relatively unscathed.

A thunder bolt knocked down a power line and a number of minor traffic accidents were reported in Levittown at the time of the storm.

A passenger in a car was slightly injured but was released after being taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital.

Electrical Fire

The thunderbolt knocked down a power line in Levittown and started an electrical fire, causing police to block traffic on Mill Creek Parkway and Haines Road.

The line fell across the parkway and Haines Road, near a transformer station.

The lightning struck about 9:15 p.m. Street lights on Haines and Edgely Roads were knocked out for a short time.

Police On Scene

No injuries were reported and the thoroughfares were cleared by linemen. Bristol Township police were on the scene.

A Hulmeville youth received lacerations of the face when the car in which he was riding plunged into a ditch on Trenton Road, Middletown Township, during the storm.

Larry Spaeth, 18, of 614 Knoll Ave., was taken to the Lower Bucks County Hospital, treated and released.

John F. Voorhees, 18, 623 Knoll Ave., Hulmeville, was driver of the car. He was not injured.

Swerves Car

Middletown Township police report that Voorhees was driving north on Trenton Road when he swerved to avoid oncoming traffic.

The youths were taken to the hospital by the Pennell-Middleton Rescue Squad. The accident happened about 9:15 p.m.

Five-Car Accident

A five-car accident occurred at 9 p.m. on Route 1, opposite the Country Club Shopping Center.

Middletown police said the accident took place when two cars stopped to make a turn into the center. Three other autos headed in the same direction telescoped. No one was injured.

The driver of the first vehicle was identified as Reinhardt (first name not given), of 305 Barneget Blvd., Beechwood, N. J. His car sustained $100 damage.

The driver of the second vehicle was Harry Brown of 501 Prospect Ave., Horsham. Damage to Brown's auto was estimated at $250.

The three rear autos sustained $400 damage. The vehicles were operated by John D. Franklin, 4014 Oakmont Ave., Philadelphia. Thomas J. Wood, 6235 North 3rd St., Philadelphia, and Andrew Ferrara, 2714 Ivy Lane, Glenside. The investigating officer was Gerald Snyder.

Allotments Sliced In County Budget

seven mills for the general budget and one mill for the institution district, were retained. In addition to the higher real estate assessments, this year's anticipated income is increased by personal property tax assessments of $92,002.249. Last year the personal property taxables totaled $75,348,875. The new duplicate, at the four mill tax rate, will bring an anticipated $383,968. Expected income in the 1960 general fund budget includes: current real estate taxes, $1,869,781; prior years' real estate taxes, $130,000; personal property tax, $383,968; occupational tax, $212,349; total taxes, $2,596,099. Other income, licenses and permits, $35,000; court costs and fines, $33,000; rent of county buildings, $500; state funds, for Health Department, $224,362; departmental earnings, fees, $333,500; non-revenue earnings, including sale of maps, planning commission income, $66,808.

Cast Surplus
In addition, the county is starting the year with a cash surplus of $208,549.

Last year the county had a budget of $3,393,053. Among the items in the new budget, as compared with what they actually cost last year, are:

Court house operation and program, last year, $177,495, $65,262.

Reassessment Program
Registration and elections, $106,800, last year, $87,523. Tax assessment, $191,200, plus $83,500 capital outlay for the reassessment program, last year, $177,494.

Industrial Development Corporation, $64,400, last year, $40,591. Park board, $81,000, last year, $122,928. County planning and zoning, $92,500, last year, $97,901.

Total judicial expenses, including offices and personnel of register of wills, sheriff, coroner, probator, clerk of quarter sessions, district attorney, lawyers, courts, courts and law libraries, justices of the peace and constables, $499,272. Last year the county spent $408,265 for court operation.

Paid By State
This does not include the salaries of the judges, who are paid by the state.

Corrections, including probation and parole officers, juvenile detention home, detention of juveniles in foster homes and operation of the county jail, $550,815, last year, $510,837.

The county's expense for the county superintendent of schools office is reduced from $41,753 to $25,000 budgeted this year. Krupp said this saving is due to a new state law.

Temporary Loans

The new budget includes $10,000 interest on temporary loans to meet expenses until taxes start coming in. Last year's interest was only $2,066. The larger borrowing is necessary because of the last tax assessments, which delayed the budget and tax rate.

Contributions to historical and civic associations are increased from $7,750 to $10,250. This new figure includes $4,000 for the newly-created Bucks County Historical Commission.

Donations to hospitals and health organizations are down from $85,000 to $67,000. The mosquito control budget for this year is $62,000. Last year the county spent $65,767. Civil Defense is also reduced in its budget, from $17,554 spent last year to $17,048 allocated.

Future Parks
Although the park board budget is considerably reduced, the board has urged the county to purchase $3,000,000 worth of urgently-needed land for future parks. This would be done, not from the budget but by floating bonds. A bond issue will also finance the addition of a judicial wing to the county administration building.

The commissioners have announced they expect to take in revenue through the planning commission, in fees for community planning services.

The institution district budget, which finances the county home, county farm and surplus food distribution, is $424,227 this year. Last year the institution district directors, the county commissioners, spent $420,895.

Uncollectable
The $1,869,781 anticipated current real estate tax income this year allows for some eight per cent of the tax to be uncollectable, based on past experience.

The figure is also close to what the County Commissioners believe is the maximum they are allowed to collect under the five per cent increase limitation, according to Commissioners John J. Bodley.

Under the reassessment law the county can not increase by more than five per cent this year the tax take from properties taxed last year. Properties new on the tax rolls do not fall in this limitation.

Bodley said his board could only estimate the number of new buildings in the 1960 assessments, because the new duplicate does not give the number. The commissioners had to go over past totals, and from them, determine the average new construction each year and apply it.

Stagecoach Overtakes, 10 Injured At Park

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Wild West stagecoach overturned yesterday at the New Freedomland amusement park, the East Coast's answer to Disneyland, injuring 10 riders, three of them children.

A 9-year-old girl and a 29-year-old woman were still hospitalized today in fair condition.

The others were treated for minor injuries and released.

George Donahue, of New York, driver of the steel-framed stagecoach, told police the four horses apparently shied at a trail, while the left rear wheel of the stagecoach sank into soft earth on the shoulder of the paved "trail" and the spokes collapsed, tipping the coach on its side and spilling out the passengers.

Freedomland officials said there were 11 riders, 6 adults and 5 children. Still hospitalized at Jacobi Hospital in the Bronx were Nancy White, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack White, of 3288 Oak Knoll, Cleveland, and Mrs. Helen De Fulvio, 29, of New York City.

Castro

Castro said, "But our patience is running out."

Castro digressed from the sugar issue long enough to accuse the Eisenhower administration of general incompetence, citing the U-2 spy plane incident and leftist rioting against the U. S. - Japanese security treaty as examples. He suggested things would be better both for Cuba and the rest of the world after the U.S. presidential elections.

"It is obvious the U.S. government does not know what to do. It is a government greatly without our orientation," Castro said.

He added later, however, that by next year "we'll probably have a new government in the United States."

Extension Of Korean War Taxes Expected

Congress To Act On Bill Next Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 4 billion dollar extension of Korean War taxes headed today for congressional approval, stripped of a crackdown on deductions for lavish business entertainment.

Senate House conferees decided instead to let congressional and Treasury tax experts study whether business deductions for hunting lodges, yachts, theater tickets, expensive gifts and similar outlays should be curbed.

The study possibly could result in legislation or tighter Internal Revenue Service rules.

The conferees knocked out the Senate-approved crackdown yesterday in agreeing on a compromise bill to extend for another year current tax rates on liquor, cigarettes, autos, travel fares, local phone calls, telegrams and corporation profits.

The Senate and House will act on the bill next week, before the taxes are scheduled to expire at midnight Thursday. The House will take up the measure first. The taxes were levied during the Korean War and have been extended on a year-to-year basis ever since.

The conferees also scuttled a Senate-approved provision that would have repealed a special tax benefit for big stockholders. This break gives a 4 per cent tax credit on dividends in excess of $50 a year or $100 in the case of married couples.

The Senate-House conference retained in modified form a Senate amendment which would close a court-approved loophole for the mining industry. The loophole would cost the Treasury a possible 600 million dollars a year, a few days.

Private Detective William J. Donlen, of Levittown, who was hired by Schafer said he and another agent on June 10, 1958 trailed Bendzlowicz to the Burlington Motel, where they found Mrs. Schaffer.

Donlen said Bendzlowicz and Mrs. Schaffer that night drove to Trenton, Morrisville and Bristol, then returned to Burlington and entered the motel. Donlen said he and his assistant entered the darkened room to surprise the two inside.

Bendzlowicz was hastily dressing, the detective testified, and Mrs. Schaffer, naked and covered with bedsheet or spread, was headed for the bathroom.

Country Reported Quiet
The country was reported quiet, however, Life in the capital was back to normal today, although residents still were stunned by the attack, and a heavy army guard surrounded the presidential palace.

Butancourt, suffering from body burns and shock, fell well enough only hours after the attempt on his life to talk to newsmen.

He was removed from the hospital unexpectedly just before midnight and brought home to his Miraflores residence, where he apparently intended to stay during his convalescence. The quick transfer from the hospital was believed designed to assure the nation he was still in complete control of the situation.

He predicted he would be back in office within 12 days. His doctors said, however, it would be at least three weeks and possibly a month before a full return to duty was possible. Even before the bombing, the president had been ill with fatigue and an intestinal infection.

President's of Aide Killed
Betancourt, as of Friday night, still had not been told that his good friend and military aide, Col. Ramon A. Armas Perez, had died in the bomb blast, which occurred while the president's motorcade was traveling along Avenida de los Proceres on the way to a military review.

The bomb, planted in an abandoned car, apparently was detonated by remote control as the motorcade passed. A policeman also was killed. Betancourt's wife was slightly shaken but able to visit her husband in the hospital later. Defense Minister Jose Lopez Henriquez and his wife suffered slight injuries.

The presidential chauffeur and an unidentified motorcyclist were in hospitals on the critical list.

Pet Monkey Flees Home In Yardley

Wetto, a five-pound monkey belonging to a Yardley boy, has apparently bid what he hopes is a final goodbye to Lower Bucks civilization.

Wetto escaped from the home of Robert Chasan, 15, of 143 S. Main St. and at last report had disappeared into the woods behind West College Ave., Yardley.

Feeding Monkey

According to Yardley Police Chief Frank Morgan, he received a call yesterday morning from a resident of West College Ave. The caller said he had been feeding a monkey at his window and that the monkey had scampered into a tree on the street.

The chief hurried over to corral the culprit, but Wetto was pleased with his perch 40 feet up and would not come down.

Later, Robert called and said his pet monkey was missing. He said Wetto had escaped from his home while he was out.

"After the storm last night Wetto may have taken off to parts unknown," Chief Morgan mused.

Police suspect his hideout may be the woods in back of West College Ave.

Wife Testifies
Bendzlowicz did not testify in his defense. But he introduced his wife, Agnes, who said she had been riding in the car with her husband when the detectives followed.

Mrs. Schaffer said she "never loved" her husband but "liked" him. She said she and Schafer had frequent quarrels and he had ordered her out of the house.

She said there was never any improper conduct between herself and Bendzlowicz. Mrs. Schaffer said Bendzlowicz took her to the motel June 10 after her husband beat her on the face.

Went To Phone
She said Mrs. Bendzlowicz stayed in the motel room with her during the day, and had gone to the office to telephone when the detectives entered the room. Both she and Bendzlowicz were clothed when the detectives entered, Mrs. Schaffer said.

Bendzlowicz told the jury he visited the Schafers to fix the furnace and do other repairs and was never there alone with Mrs. Schaffer.

John Simmons, 63, Nettletree Lane, Levittown, testified Mrs. Bendzlowicz told him her husband was keeping Mrs. Schaffer in a hotel room.

Bendzlowicz, in cross-examination, asked what was the cause of Mrs. Schaffer leaving the home.

"You, my friend, you," Schafer replied.

Man, 67, Arrested On Morals Charges

A Bristol man has been released on $1,000 bail after two Bristol borough officers arrested him yesterday on charges of indecent assault and corrupting the morals of minors.

Jack Sinnott, 67, of 200 Otter St., Bristol posted the bail in a hearing before Justice of the Peace Eugene Sapadacino, after he allegedly offered money to three Bristol girls, each about nine years old.

The girls were not harmed, according to borough police. The offense allegedly happened on Otter St.

Officers John Tortu and H. Scheetz made the arrest.

Sinnott will be tried at the next court session, according to borough police.

Peter Guzman, 22, 125 East 120th St., New York, N. Y., was sentenced to three months in county prison by Judge William Brooks, Morrisville, Falls Township police said Guzman took the truck last July 20 and abandoned it in Allentown to take another truck. U.S. Steel Shutting Edgar Thomson Works

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United States Steel Corp. began shutting down its steel-making facilities at the Edgar Thomson Works in Braddock today because of "the generally low rate of business in the steel industry."

A spokesman said the temporary shutdown will cut the operating capacity rate to 40 per cent in the Pittsburgh district. All nine open hearths were being shut down and two of four blast furnaces were being blown out.

A similar temporary shutdown of iron and steel-making facilities was begun June 5 at National Tube Works of U.S. Steel at McKeesport because of major repairs to steel roll facilities.

Going In Circles

By Jim Stanton

Bensalem Township officials miss the pretty face and cheery voice of Secretary Natalie. Strange at the Municipal Building these days.

Natalie, or Marge, as she is known, underwent surgery at the Abington General Hospital last week but is expected to be back on the job within the next three weeks.

Get well wishers may send a note to Marge at her home, 1509 School Lane, Cornwells Heights, next week. She's due home then.

John Eminhizer, new acting manager for Bensalem Township's Sewer and Water Authority, has got the job for manager sewed up as far as the ladies are concerned.

At a recent authority meeting, when a member of the board asked whether he should read a resume which Eminhizer had submitted to the board, a woman in the audience spoke up:

"That's all right," she said.

"We don't have to listen to his qualifications, he's nice looking and that's good enough for me." Eminhizer is "on loan" to Bensalem by the Lower Bucks Authority but is expected to become manager of the Bensalem Authority when his contract is drawn up for him.

During the same meeting which was marked by heated exchanges between Secretary Joseph Knable and members Richard James and Frank Puzychi, another woman remarked: "You should get a few women on the board, then you wouldn't have so much bickering."

Audience participation seemed to be the order for the evening. When one authority member introduced a motion before the board, a resounding "I second that" was heard from the back of the room.

The "upstart" from the audience was immediately hushed, but the resolution was passed.

Youth Jailed In $75 Theft

A Doylestown youth who admitted stealing $75 from the mother of a Feasterville girl friend was committed to Bucks County Prison yesterday when he was unable to pay $300 bail set by Justice of the Peace John H. Estlow, Oakford.

Estlow held Joe Farmer, 20, of the Fountain House, Doylestown, for the next term of court, after he admitted taking the money from several jars in the home of Mrs. Betty Wilson, a widow using her maiden name.

Police said Farmer stole the money while visiting Mrs. Wilson's daughter, Betty Doncker at their home at 49 Bustleton Pike. Mrs. Wilson and her daughter said that Farmer was just a casual friend.

He was arrested last Wednesday by Lower Southampton police. Following interrogation by Police Chief Edward F. Wunsch and Sgt. Frank Walters, he was charged with larceny on information received.
